

INTELLIGENT DYNAMIC DATA

Power your future with Fuel50's Workforce Insights

Go beyond simple analytics with skills-based Workforce Insights. Fuel50 analyzes your organization as it engages with our skills-based Talent Marketplace, providing a powerful lens to talents, skills, and people to support your strategic workforce decisions.

Skills & Talents Insights

See the talents and skills you have across your workforce today, and identify where your gap areas are for the future.

People Insights

Understand your people at a deeper level. What motivates and engages them, and how to support their future.

Leaders Insights

Provide your leaders with team insights – see retention risks, their working styles, career needs, and engagement with opportunities.

Usage Insights

Know your workforce based on its marketplace activity. See your people's values, engagers, growth metrics, and platform usage.

Impact Insights

Track the ROI of your marketplace and its impact on internal talent mobility, productivity, and bottom-line.

The new Insights function has added an immense layer of value by allowing our organization to have a better view into the skills our employees possess. Being able to understand our skills landscape and get granular data into departments and even singular employees allows us to better prepare for talent needs and skill gaps. I've found the ability to monitor our major business units' skills to be critically important and has really assisted in selling the value of Fuel50 to our business leaders. Some "hold out" business leaders are now jumping at the opportunity to leverage Fuel50 in their organization, as they can use Insights to better prepare their teams for the strategic priorities of the business.

– Zachary McCleary, Senior Learning Program Owner at KeyBank

Give the right people, the right access, to the right data, at the right time.

Create Dashboards & Reports

Within Fuel50's Workforce Insights, you can create custom dashboards to surface the data you want to focus on. Generate reports and use them to support your strategic workforce planning.

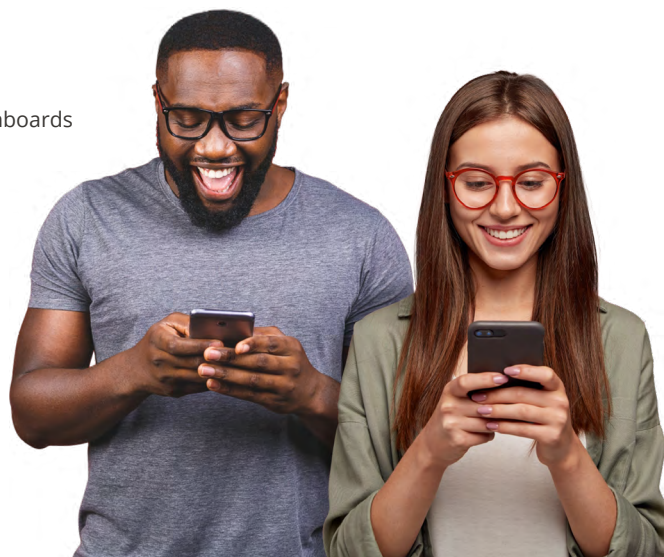

Data Alerts

Keep a strong pulse on your data with on-demand downloads and scheduled alert notifications.

Custom Permissions

Utilize Fuel50's permission levels to ensure different levels of your people can view the insights relevant to them – their business unit, function, role level, and reporting lines.

Fuel50's Workforce Insights positively impacts your bottom-line.

Make the right decisions, with a clear lens into your talent demographics.

- Get a vantage point on your organization's skills, talents, and capabilities. Identify what skills you have now, what you need to develop for the future, and gather the skills insights you need to inform your tailored learning and development efforts.
- Boost retention. Identify retention risks and areas of the workforce needing attention early.
- Inform your action plans to make sure you keep your best talent.
- Upgrade your recruitment efficiency. Give leaders and managers what they need to recruit and attract the right talent, with the right skills, to ensure the best fit.
- Get the most out of your Talent Marketplace with detailed usage metrics, user engagement, and aggregate marketplace ROI.
- Customize your experience to ensure a focused view on the data that is most important to you and your organization. Build dashboards that highlight the insights you care about the most.
- Easily generate data visualizations, reports, and get alerts so you can keep a strong pulse on your workforce as it evolves.

