The screenshot displays the Fuel50 360 Feedback interface. At the top, there are navigation tabs for 'INCOMING FEEDBACK' and 'OUTGOING FEEDBACK'. A prominent red button labeled 'Request Feedback' is visible. Below this, a 'Top Rated Feedback' section includes a toggle switch between 'TALENTS' and 'SKILLS'. A legend indicates that the radar chart uses different colors for 'Leader rating' (blue), 'My rating' (red), 'Team rating' (purple), and 'All others rating' (green). The radar chart itself has six axes: 'Influencing Others', 'Conflict Resolution', 'Coaching', 'Work Ethic', 'Market Savvy', and 'Communicating Effectively'. A legend on the right lists these skills with corresponding numbers 1 through 6.

The screenshot displays the Fuel50 interface with a header banner that says "GIVE AND RECEIVE FEEDBACK." Below the banner are tabs for "INCOMING FEEDBACK" and "OUTGOING FEEDBACK". The main content area is divided into two sections:

- Performance Chart: A line chart titled "Analytical Thinking" with a "RATE YOURSELF" button. The chart shows four data series: Manager rating (blue), My rating (red), Peer rating (green), and Team rating (purple). The y-axis represents skill levels: Contributor, Professional, and Mastery. The x-axis shows months from JAN to DEC. A callout box points to the chart with the text "Dive deeper into any talent ...".
- Feedback History: A section titled "Incoming Feedback History" with a toggle between "By your requested feedback" and "By all feedback received". Below this is a vertical timeline of feedback items:
 - 10 APR 21: Feedback on: Influencing Others (0/1 Responded)
 - 10 APR 21: Feedback on: Teamwork (0/2 Responded)
 - 08 APR 21: Feedback on: Accelerating (0/1 Responded)
 - 08 APR 21: Feedback on: Budget Management (0/1 Responded)

Callout boxes provide additional context:

- "Dive deeper into your talents and view progress over a visual timeline" points to the performance chart.
- "Toggle between your requested feedback and all feedback received" points to the feedback history toggle.
- "View feedback received on a timeline" points to the feedback history list.
- "Set privacy settings on each piece of feedback" points to a dropdown menu showing "Public", "Managers", and "Private" (selected).
